

1960s John Vesey Chrome and Brass Console

UNITED STATES, 1960s

Elegant and architectural console table by John Vesey in the 1960s. This refined piece combines polished chrome, brass accents, glass top exemplifying the clean lines and neoclassical influence that define Vesey's work.

John Vesey was a prominent American Interior Designer & Furniture Manufacturer known for his sophisticated modern interiors that blended neoclassical influences with modernist simplicity.

SPECIFICATIONS

Designer:	John Vesey
Manufacturer:	John Vesey
Origin:	United States
Date:	1960s
Materials	Chrome-plated steel, brass
Color:	Chrome & brass
Dimensions	16" Deep x 60" Long x 29" High
Condition	Very Good Vintage Condition. Wear consistent with age and use.

PROVENANCE

Born John Vesey Colclough, Jr. in Norfolk Massachusetts in 1924 he moved into the Antiques Markets of New York after the war.

John Vesey occupies an unusual position in postwar American Design. Working through the 50s-1970s he created furniture that is unmistakably modern yet deeply informed by proportions, silhouettes and craftsmanship of 18th & 19th Century European Furniture. Championing the translation of classic designs into metal in modern designs and quality craftsmanship throughout the mid-20th Century.

FEATURES

- Polished Chrome Frame
- Brass arched brackets & accents
- Clear tempered glass top
- Architectural fluted legs
- Versatile as a console or sofa table

Reference	TA-SUMI0036
Category:	Tables

Price $2,400